Warren Pierpont and Rudolph J. Tick, Complainants, vs.

John M. Sweeney, Georgia G. Sweeney, Abram K. Detweiler and Geo. G. Metzger, Defendants.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Shiawassee, in Chancery, at Cornua on the 2nd day of July A. D. 1910.
In this cause it appearing from affidavits on file, that the defendants Abram K. Detweiler and Geo. G. Metzger are not residents of this state but reside at Toledo in the state of Ohio, on motion of Kilpatrick & Pierpont, complainants solicitors, it is ordered that the defendants George G. Metzger and Abram K. Detweiler cause their appearance to be entered within four months from the date of this order, and in case of their appearance that they cause their answer to the complainants' bill of complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said complainants solicitors within fifteen days after service on them of a copy of said bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof, said bill be taken as confessed by the said non-resident defendants.

And it is further ordered, that within twenty days the said complainants cause a notice of this order to be published in THE OWSOSSO TIMES a newspaper printed, published and circulating in said county and that such publication be continued therein at least once a week for six weeks in succession or that they cause a copy of this order to be personally served on said non-resident defendants at least twenty days before the time above prescribed for their appearance.

MONTANA GIRLS.

Relay and Tandem Races Starting
Features at the West Michigan
State Fair, Sept. 12-16th.

It has been the policy of the business committee of the West Michigan State Fair to bring special free attractions for the amusement of the public who attend the Fair. This year will be no exception and in presenting to the patrons of the Fair the "Fero Sisters," a high class novelty, original and up-to-date and full of the most startling features, will be presented. The exhibitions put on by the "Fero Sisters" are first class in every particular. Their feats are new and original, as well as spectacular and high class.

The young ladies taking part in these races are from 16 to 18 years of age; some of them hold records, one holding the world's record for 20 miles and for four miles, having received a gold medal for the same. Their act consists of relay and tandem races in which they ride the fastest thoroughbreds the land can produce. The young ladies appear in jockey suits and ride with light weight racing saddles. There are three riders in the relay race; the young ladies start at the wire and race four times around the half mile track, changing rapidly to a fresh mount each time around, in front of the grand stand. This relay race has been a feature attraction at the eastern state fairs for the past three seasons, and this is the first time that the "Fero Sisters" have been induced to come west of the Ohio river.

In addition to the relay race, a thrilling dash race will be put on which is a distinctive feature by itself and will indeed be a race from wire to wire.

This is only one of the many free attractions that will be offered this year by the West Michigan State Fair, whose main object is to give to the people only the best and highest class attractions that money can produce.

A WOMEN'S BACK.

The Aches and Pain Will Disappear
If the Advice of This Owosso
Citizen is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains. Most times 'tis the kidney's fault. Backache is really kidney ache. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Owosso women know this. Read what one has to say about it. Mrs. O. G. Flack, 719 Saginaw street, Owosso, Mich., says: "I have been greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills. For two years I suffered from kidney complaint, backache and distressing pains in my loins. My back often grew so lame that I could hardly get about and to stoop or lift caused sharp twinges through my kidneys. The kidney secretions were also painful in passage. After trying many remedies without getting relief, I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and began their use. They helped me at once and it was not long before all symptoms of my trouble disappeared. I am now in better health than I have been for years and I feel certain that Doan's Kidney Pills deserve the credit."

RACING CARD.

Splendid Program Offered by the Speed Department of the West
Michigan State Fair.

While there are no early closing events in the harness horse racing program for the West Michigan State Fair, which is to be held Sept. 12-16th this year, a big entry list is indicated by the unusual demands for the list of purses and entry blanks daily being received by the secretary, Mr. George S. Ward.

The 1910 racing program was given very careful consideration, and in view of the successful race meet held at Comstock Park the week of July 18th, and the fact that the mile track at Comstock Park is considered one of the best in the country, those that know the horse racing game and all its detail, prophesy that the 1910 races of the West Michigan State Fair will include more and better fast steppers than have ever been contested on the West Michigan State Fair track.

A Pain Remedy

Both internal and external is needed daily by almost every family. Keep a bottle of Dr. Bell's Anti-Pain. Good for all kinds of bowel troubles. Externally for cuts, burns, sprains and all pains. Strongly antiseptic. Sold everywhere.

Gleaned From the State Press

Some men are old at 35. Senator Burrows is a young man at 70. It is how a man lives, not how long, that makes the difference.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

During all his long public career Senator Burrows never has been known as a player to the grandstand. When it comes to delivering the goods, however, he has always been on the spot.—Alma Journal.

That Burrows has served the people of Michigan long and well and has won an enviable position in the nation's great legislative body, is one of the strongest arguments that can be used in favor of his re-election.—Norway Current.

Michigan has many and important interests to be safeguarded. It has mines and forests connected by rail and water; agriculture, labor and mercantile interests. The veteran statesman can serve these interests more efficiently and effectively than any new man can hope to do. Then why make any change? Why not retain the faithful and capable servant, and let the young men who aspire to his seat wait?—Escanaba Journal.

Senator Burrows, it is said, is an old man. He wasn't an old man in '62 when he went to the front with the Seventeenth Michigan Infantry. With him in the senate the old soldiers will have a friend, a friend who knows what the war was, what those who served in the army endured, how they feel and what they deserve. Will the interests of the old soldiers be best served by one of their own number or by one whose knowledge of the war is confined to what can be read in the books?—St. Johns Republican.

Senator Burrows' announcement of his candidacy for another term is what his friends expected—a manly and frank statement. There is no side-stepping; no playing to the galleries, but pure Republican principles are in evidence in every line. Senator Burrows' attitude is one of straight Republicanism—something needed in these days of new political cults—and he places himself squarely on a platform that every Republican can and should support with enthusiasm.—Tuscola County Courier, Caro, Mich.

Mr. Burrows' unimpeachable Republicanism is largely responsible for his high standing in the senate today. He has stood by his party pledges as announced in its platforms, and always worked for their fulfillment. Had his conscience and judgment not agreed with the policies outlined by the national and state conventions, he is a man of principle enough to have retired rather than have accepted the nomination and election and then turned upon the party that seated him just for the sake of making himself popular with the masses. Michigan is a Republican state, and that party will name the United States senator to be elected this fall. With the possibility of Democratic gains in both houses, it would be foolhardy for the Republicans to elect a man about whom there is the slightest doubt.—Sault Ste. Marie Times.

It has well been said that one of the discouraging features of American public life is the fleeting character of the reputation it makes and the feeble impression which even its larger achievements leave on the popular attention and interest. The fact that young men who were not born when Senator Burrows began his public career have now and then exposed themselves to ridicule by demanding to know what he has done to merit the respect, confidence and support of Michigan electors, makes it appropriate to speak at some length of his record. To the older men of the party—the wheel horses in years past—it is not at all necessary to recount the history, it is so well known. Young men are apt to forget, and especially when their enthusiasm is aroused by the statement there is a younger man in the field. Young men then can find much to interest them in the honorable career of Senator Burrows—Grand Rapids Journal, Ithaca.

Senator Burrows' record in public life is such that not a flaw can be picked in it. Not only has he displayed wise judgment as a statesman, but his personal integrity and his patriotism are unquestioned. He is too big a man to be annoyed by the petty misrepresentations of muckrakers, who dwell and delve in mud like mites do in cheese, but goes on his way knowing that the good people of his state and his country are with him. Mr. Burrows, as a candidate for re-election, has shown himself to be a man of so much higher standing than his traducers in not even noticing their little gibes, that he has endeared himself to the masses, for they know and recognize his true worth. Not since the days of that great political fighter, Zach Chandler, has Michigan had a leader in the senate, although Senator McMillan's influence was very great, and Mr. Burrows has been looked up to by his brother senators for advice on all weighty matters.—Grand Rapids Daily News.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

IV.—The Modern Farm Home.

By C. V. GREGORY.

(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

ONE of the chief reasons why the girls and women of the farm have occasionally longed in the past for the city is because of the more convenient homes that were found there. Many a farm woman has had her life shortened by carrying water from the well or the spring, bending for hours at a time over steaming washtubs and doing other hard labor from which the women in town long ago were emancipated. Today the modern farm home is fully as well supplied with conveniences as the house in the city, and it is done at less cost. The reason that more homes are not provided with such conveniences is that the farmers have grown used to doing without them. They look forward to retiring and moving to town, where they can have all the modern conveniences. When they get there they will pay dearly for them in the form of house rent. To have them in the country means a direct cash outlay, and too often the farmer pleads that he cannot afford it. A little figuring would convince him that he need not do without a few of these conveniences that make life so much more pleasant for the whole family.

The first consideration in most parts of the country is the heating system. Farmers are getting out of the habit of using stoves, as they are finding that the added convenience of a furnace or hot water heater, together with the saving of coal or wood, will pay for the installation. With a heating system of this kind all the coal and dust incident to building and keeping up the fire are in the cellar. The whole house can be heated for about what it costs to heat two or three rooms with stoves. There is no need of crawling out of bed into a cold room in the morning. A pull on the chain will open the draft, and in half an hour or so the house is warm. The kitchen also can be heated from the cellar, and an oil stove can be used for cooking. An oil stove takes up less room, saves fuel and is much more comfortable to work over in the summer time.

A furnace has the advantage of cheapness. It also furnishes fresh air to the rooms, if properly put in. For an eight room house a furnace can be put in for about $150. A hot water system for the same house would cost a trifle more than twice as much. The hot water system has the advantages of being cleaner and keeping a more uniform heat. Cheap coal will work well in the boiler, thus considerably reducing the expense for fuel.

The next consideration is the water system. A good water supply under pressure is not only a convenience, but also a form of insurance, since each farm must furnish its own fire protection. Some farm buildings are built now of concrete and hollow tile, but even then there is always some danger of fire. An elevated tank is one of the best means of supplying pressure. Some of the modern types of silos are being built with a tank on top. A method that is as convenient, though a little more expensive, is a pneumatic tank in the cellar. The water is pumped into this and the air inside compressed. The air pressure will lift the water to all parts of the house.

For power to pump the water a windmill may be used, or a hydraulic ram if running water is obtainable. The most reliable power is a gasoline engine. Nearly every really up to date modern farm has its gasoline engine, which can easily be made to combine pumping with its other duties. With a little added expense the water system can be made double, so that both hard and soft water can be obtained. For the bathroom and the kitchen sink hot water is needed also, which can be provided by a heater in the range or by a separate oil heater.

With a good water system installed the work of the housewife is reduced

50 per cent. Cold and hot water, either hard or soft, is always at hand for use in the kitchen. The dishes can be piled into the sink and washed in almost half the time it took previously. A wash room with permanent tubs can be provided in the cellar. The washing machine can be run with the gasoline engine or with a water motor. While a room of this kind may not make washing exactly a pleasure, it will reduce the labor more than half. With a little planning a small tank can be arranged in the kitchen, so that all the water that is pumped for the stock will pass through it. This is almost as good as an icebox.

A good bath and toilet room is a great convenience to all the family. A shower bath in one corner of the barn will be greatly appreciated by the boys at the close of a hot day's work. The wastes from the kitchen sink and from the wash room can be run into a tile and taken away. For the wastes from the toilet room a sewage disposal plant will have to be provided. The most convenient method is the septic tank. This is an underground cement lined brick tank divided into two compartments. As one compartment fills it overflows into the next. Nearly all the solid substance will be destroyed by bacteria, and the water that flows out at the lower end can be disposed of through a tile drain. The entire cost of a water system such as the one described, with the compressed air tank, together with the sewage disposal plant, need not be much more than $250.

The cheapest method of lighting the farmhouse is by acetylene gas. This gas is generated by a machine in the cellar and can be piped to all the rooms and to the barn. If desired it can be used also for cooking. The average cost of installing an acetylene plant is about $200. This includes lights in the barn and in the yard. It costs little to run an acetylene plant after it is once in. The average cost is about a cent for a sixteen candle power light for four hours. Acetylene is the nearest like daylight of any kind of artificial light and is incomparably better than the old fashioned oil lamp. The newer types of acetylene lamp are provided with a battery, so that they can be lighted by merely turning a button.

By going to a little more expense electric light can be had on the farm. If a gasoline engine is already at hand the total cost of installing an electric plant, with lights in house and barn, need not be more than $375.

A few electric fans will make the house comfortable in hot weather. One convenience of the city, ice, is still lacking. The way the ice problem is most satisfactorily handled in the country is for half a dozen neighbors to build a co-operative icehouse. The men club together and fill it in the winter, and a plentiful supply of ice is at hand all through the summer. With a small additional expense a cold storage room can be built in connection with the icehouse for keeping meat, poultry, eggs and fruit. In a number of communities co-operative fresh meat societies are successfully run. The members take turns killing a beef or a hog, and fresh meat is supplied all through the year at much less cost than it could be obtained in the city.

The cost of a heating system, a wash room, a vacuum cleaner, a hot water attachment and other devices of that sort is the same in the country as in the city. The cost of the water and sewage system in the country is about $250. The cost of operating a water system in the country is much less than the cost of city water.

An electric lighting system for the farm will cost from $375 up. The life of such a system can be figured safely at twenty years. The storage batteries will not last so long, but the rest of the apparatus will last longer. This would mean an annual depreciation of $18.75. Interest at 6 per cent would amount to $22.50. The cost of operating the plant will depend, of course, on the amount of electricity used. The cost for lighting the average farmhouse and barn for a year and furnishing electricity for sundry other purposes will not average more than $10 for gasoline. This makes the total cost for electricity $41.25 a year. In the city the average cost for electricity for an eight room house is about $50 a year.

The cost of an icehouse and of putting up ice varies so much with conditions that it is hard to give any general figures. These can easily be obtained for any particular locality, however. It is seldom that ice put up in this manner costs as much in the country as in town.

The farm home can be fitted with hot water heat, hot and cold water, bath and toilet room, electric lights, wash room in the cellar, etc., for $1,000. The interest on $1,000 is $60 a year. Ten per cent for depreciation and repairs is $100 a year. The saving in coal will pay for the cost of running the lighting and water systems. For $100 a year the farm home can be provided with every modern convenience that the city home possesses.

By using a furnace and an acetylene system the annual cost can be lowered to about $85. The city man pays that extra $7 to $14 a month and more in increased rent and thinks nothing of it. The farmer is beginning to realize that it is possible for him to live better, and he is rapidly taking advantage of the opportunity.

BURROWS LEADS IN CANVASS

Detroit Information Says Senior
Senator Will Be Returned.

MAKES GREAT IMPRESSION

Townsend Weakens Cause By Speeches—Senator Burrows Gives Lie to Old Age Charge by Canvassing With the Vigor of Youth.

Detroit—While election predictions can never be very definite, it is possible to obtain an excellent line of sentiment by personal inquiry in the various sections, and the result of a careful canvass of every county of the state indicates that Senator J. C. Burrows will be nominated for senator in the Republican primary by a majority of from 25,000 to 50,000. A careful weighing of the figures secured places his probable majority at 25,000.

Since the close of congress the senator has been gaining ground every day, and when he completes his campaign throughout the state it is entirely possible that he will run this majority up to 50,000.

This great gain in strength is due to two reasons, primarily, although many things enter into the switch in sentiment, for even the most enthusiastic of the senator's supporters will acknowledge that three months back, owing to the character of the campaign being waged against Senator Burrows, the result was in doubt.

One of the principal campaign weapons of the opponents of Senator Burrows has been his age. The people have been told that he was too old to perform the duties of the office; that he was on the verge of a physical breakdown. Senator Burrows is 72 years old, but he has proven anything but a broken down old man, as he has gone through the campaign thus far in a way to break down the younger members of his party. He has shown the vigor and fire of youth in his speeches and has told the people squarely where he stood on every question.

The other principal point made against Senator Burrows was that he has always been "regular" in the senate. Instead of denying this, the senator has met the issue head-on and has told the people that he stood by his record, and that if he had it to do over again that he would not change a vote. This manly stand has made its appeal to thinking people and, compared with the vacillating course of his opponent on every big issue, has served greatly to strengthen the senator.

Situation in the State.

Taking up the canvass made in the state, it is certain that Senator Burrows will carry Wayne county, the Third, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Twelfth congressional districts, with an excellent vote in the Fifth. An analysis of the vote of the districts mentioned will show that three-fifths of the vote of the state is in the districts which Senator Burrows will carry. As yet the senator has not spoken in the Tenth district, and his visits to the Fifth, Ninth and Eleventh districts have been few. The Second is conceded to Mr. Townsend, but the indications are all that Senator Burrows will be far better supported in Kalamazoo than Mr. Townsend will be in Jackson.

Wayne For Burrows.

Townsend men have gone so far as to claim Wayne, but this is nonsense. Mr. Townsend will receive a fair vote in Wyandotte, which is in his congressional district, but aside from this he will have no support in the big county of the state. The city of Detroit alone will give a majority for Burrows of from 10,000 to 15,000, because the senator is receiving the solid support of the business and professional men of the city.

He is even stronger in the upper peninsula, which has the greatest population of any congressional district in the state and a Republican enrollment for the fall primary of 44,800. The senator has just completed a tour through that section and it was like the triumphal march of a great leader. Every city visited vied with its neighbor in doing honor to the senior Michigan senator, and he was assured the united support of the Republicans of that section. The same is true of the Saginaw valley and of the Third and Fourth congressional districts, which Senator Burrows represented in the lower house before they were divided.

Here in Detroit it is taken as an accepted fact that Senator Burrows will be returned, and money for better purposes is going begging in several places.

Burrows Not An Oratorical Star.

Senator Burrows is not a star on the Chautauque circuit. His fame rests on the sane and faithful performance of his public duty, not on spectacular eruptions that give joy to the Democracy.—Hesperia Journal.
